

Serina Erfjord [1982] lives and works in Oslo, Norway. She graduated from the Art Academy in Oslo in 2008. Her works are within a sculptural field and they usually reflect and include their surroundings, as they often constitute interventions within the gallery space or the public realm. The works are often simple and minimalistic, but have a character of being both subtle and monumental. Her interest in movements within a material is shown through her use of electromagnets, gravity, freezing elements, motors, sound light and different kinds of liquids.

It is with great pleasure that we present Serina Erfjord's research project Column and Corridor here at UKS.

LIST OF WORKS

Line

pump, liquid, variable dimensions

Before and After

corridor, mixed media (plaster, polyurethane)

